

OHIO STATE, MICHIGAN RIVALRIES

Originally published in The Blade on Friday, November 17, 2006

By RYAN E. SMITH
BLADE STAFF WRITER

The top two teams in the nation won't just be battling things out on the football field tomorrow when Ohio State plays Michigan in Columbus. This is a rivalry that extends off the field too. So why not tackle its pop culture implications? Consider the following head-to-head matchups between the following personalities who attended (though not necessarily graduated from) the two universities and decide for yourself who would come out on top.

Contact Ryan E. Smith at: ryansmith@theblade.com or 419-724-6103.

OHIO STATE	MICHIGAN
MASCOT
 Brutus the Buckeye	 Wolverines (an actual wolverine named Biff was put in the U of M Zoo in the late '20s)
ACTING
 Patricia Heaton, Everybody Loves Raymond	 James Earl Jones, Star Wars
WRITING

OHIO STATE	MICHIGAN
BUSINESS
 Les Wexner, CEO of Limited Brands	 Larry Page, co-founder of Google
COMEDY
 Richard Lewis, stand-up, Anything But Love	 Gilda Radner, Saturday Night Live
ESPN
 Kirk Herbstreit, college football analyst	 Dana Jacobson, co-host of ESPN2's Cold Pizza
REALITY TV
 Cindy Hall, Survivor: Guatemala	 Adam Carolla, Average Joe
INFAMOUS

R. L. Stine, Goosebumps books for kids	Arthur Miller, Death of a Salesman
MUSIC
 Dwight Yoakam, country singer	 Madonna, pop singer

 Jeffrey Dahmer, serial killer	 Ted Kaczynski, Unabomber
SOURCE: OSU and UM alumni associations and other sources.
THE BLADE

< previous

next >